CATTERSON GETS SKULL FRACTURED

PULLEY IN BARN FALLS AND STRIKES HIM

IS FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

Taken to Kirksville to a Hospital, Where He Will Be Operated On

Hal Catterson was taken to the hospital in Kirksville last night to have his skull operated upon as a result of being hit in the head by a pulley while putting hay in the barn about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon on his farm two miles north of Maryville.

Mr. Catterson was in the barn loft when the fork became contrary and refused to run on the track he gave it a pull and the pulley fell hitting him on the head slightly above the forehead. The workmen below did not know what had happened and after not hearing from him for some time they went into the loft and found him unconscious.

He was taken to the St. Francis hospital where X-Ray pictures were taken of his skull and a bone taken out of his head. He was kept in the hospital until last night and then taken to Kirksville.

Dr. K. R. Malotte, Mrs. Hal Catterson and Mrs. Omer Catterson went with Mr. Catterson. Dr. George Still of Kirksville will operate upon him.

GUARD WHO SHOT PAIR IS RUSHED TO RED OAK

Creston, Ia., July 27.—Fearing mob violence, Sheriff F. Collings early last night rushed J. R. Sears, railway guard, to the county jail at Red Oak, after he had been confined in the local jail early yesterday as the result of shooting and seriously wounding C. A. Blodgett and Kay McCloud, strikers.

McCloud will recover, but Blodgett's condition is extremely critical.

Fearing riots, fifty deputy United States marshals were dispatched from Des Moines late last night at the request of local authorities. They will be placed on guard along the boundaries of the railway properties.

The fifty Burlington guards at the roundhouse and shops stacked their arms, following a demand earlier in the day by county and city officials that men doing guard duty be disarmed.

Railway guards did not patrol the Burlington yards last night, as they had done since the beginning of the strike, but watched only over the shops and roundhouse.

Police and deputy sheriffs stood guard in the yards.

McCloud and Blodgett were wounded by the charge from a sawed-off shotgun when they were alleged to have trespassed on the Burlington's property.

If Blodgett dies, a charge of murder will be filed against Sears, according to County Attorney E. L. Carroll.

FARM PRODUCTS IN DROP

Hogs Only Livestock That Didn't Sell For Less in Missouri

Jefferson City, July 27—Farm products in Missouri dropped during July compared with the prices received for the same products during June, the federal-state crop reporting service, just prepared by E. A. Logan and Jewell Mayes, states. Forty-five farm products were considered in the report.

Twenty-six of the forty-five products declined slightly in price, the report shows, nine remained the same as last month and ten were slightly higher.

Hogs were the only livestock which did not decline during the month. Corn was the only grain to show an increased price in July over June and prairie hay was the only hay which did not show a decrease during the period.

NEWSPAPER FOLKS GUESTS AT DINNER

WERE ENTERTAINED LAST NIGHT AT THOMAS PLACE

ELECTRONS IMPORTANT

Name of Farm Carried Out in the Meal Scheme—Electricity Played Big Part

Mr. and Mrs. Roland E. Thomas and their daughter, Mrs. Mary Gallagher of the Electron farm conceived the idea recently of entertaining at a chicken dinner the editorial and business forces of the Daily Democrat-Forum and the Maryville Tribune. They carried this idea into effect last night when they served about the best 3-course dinner imaginable to ten members of the two forces.

The first course was fruit cocktail. Then came fried chicken mashed potatoes, corn, tomatoes, olives, salad, gravy, cheese, beets, honey, rolls and butter. The third course was ice cream and cake, nuts and mints. The drink was ice tea. The table was decorated with sweet peas.

Electrons played a large part in the preparation and serving of the meal. The eggs from which the chickens served were hatched before daylight by a hen who went to the nest after she had scratched her breakfast out of the straw in the henhouse by electric light. The eggs were incubated in an electric incubator and the baby chicks brooded in an electric brooder. Mr. Thomas said he would have, had he thought of it, electricuted the chickens instead of killing them by cutting their heads off.

The entire dinner was cooked by Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Gallagher on an electric stove, while an electric fan sent a cool breeze through the kitchen making working conditions pleasant. An electric fan in the dining room hummed busily away while the guests were at the table, making the room as cool as it would have been out of doors.

Mr. Thomas took the party about the place, showing the electrical appliances and the stock that is kept. A part of the stock is the pure bred Poland China hogs of Robert E. Gallagher, 6-year-old son of Mrs. Gallagher and the youngest share holder in any record association.

After the dinner the guests and the hosts had a social visit until later in the evening.

Those present from the two local papers were Miss Emma Hull, Mrs. Guy Haller, Miss Helen Todd, Miss Betsie Dunn, Clifford M. Hull, Townsend Godsey, Charles Dunn, Ursle Crockett, Ed Brewer and Marvin H. Crawford. Other guests were Garland N. White, northwest Missouri correspondent of the St. Joseph News-Press and Roland Holloway.

REVISION OF TREATY PROPOSED IN PEACE CONGRESS

London, July 27—Revision of the treaty of Versailles in accordance with President Wilson's fourteen points was proposed in a resolution introduced in the international peace congress by Sir George Paish, famous British economist. Mrs. Luke Huffman who lives on a farm east of Clearmont fell from the back porch of her home this morning and broke both bones in her ankle.

LIGHT COMPANY IS BURNING OIL

HOLDING 30-DAYS COAL SUPPLY FOR EMERGENCY

NEW LINE MATERIALS

Seven Customers Cut Off From Heating Plant Owing to Fuel Shortage

Manager C. C. Hellmers of the Electric Light & Power Company stated today he had a thirty day supply of coal on hand at present. One oil burner was installed at the light plant and is now being used, being able to do the work necessary for carrying the entire load. The coal will be saved for emergency purposes such as in cases of shipments of oil being delayed or hard to get. Another burner is at the plant but is not being used at the present time. There is no storage capacity for oil at the plant and it will be necessary for shipments from time to time.

The materials for the line to Grant City and also for the line to connect with the Clarinda plant have been received. The Grant City line will be pushed to completion first. The poles to be used on this line will be eight-inch wood poles. The line to Clearmont is being rebuilt with a higher voltage and a line from Clearmont to Braddyville will be built so as to connect the Maryville and Clarinda plants. It was estimated it will take $150,000 to build these lines and to make some other changes in the plant here.

The light plant is owned by the Continental Electric & Gas Corporation of Omaha. Mr. Lee, the president of the company, is the owner of the plant at Clarinda. It is the intention at times of necessity to have the Clarinda plant to help out in pulling the load of the Maryville plant and the same is true of necessity at Clarinda.

Since oil is being used at the light plant, the company has cut off its heating system. This will only affect about seven customers who were using it during the summer for the purpose of getting hot water.

The sale of chautauqua tickets started off with a rush this morning, according to those in charge. Fifty tickets were sold in the district of E. M. Houchens and Lewis White by 9 o'clock and it was necessary to send in to the office of Harry Todd, chairman for the guarantors, for more tickets for this district. The plan is to cover the entire residence district of the town today. No one is being solicited in the business district. This arrangement is made to avoid conflicts in that a man might purchase at the office or store and his wife purchase at home.

HOGAN SAYS QUITE AT CONCEPT. JCT.

UNION BOILERMAKER SAYS WILL BE NO DISORDER.

MAN WITH GUARDS DRUNK

One Member of Party Which Came in Last Night Had to Be Carried From Train.

T. A. Hogan of Conception Junction a union man and a boilermaker by trade was in Maryville this afternoon. Mr. Hogan has watcher the strike situation at Conception closely. He says that it has been a peaceful affair and that it will continue to be peaceful. He says that some of the strikers went to the shop Saturday but that there was no violence. He says that most of the striking shopmen at Conception are citizens and taxpayers of Conception and that they have no desire of causing confusion. He says that the boys who are not married and who are boarding in Conception while they are at work are orderly fellows.

Mr. Hogan says, however, that he saw something last night on the part of opposition to the strikers that he did not think was right. He says that a special car of guards and deputy U. S. marshals was pulled up last night on number 2 on the Great Western. When the train reached Conception a brakeman carried from the car a man who was in a drunken condition. He laid him on the grass of the right-of-way. After the car had been pulled into the yards, J. G. Wenk, trainmaster, asked some of the strikers to pick the man up and take care of him, saying he would bear all expenses. About the same time the injunction against the strikers trespassing on railway property was posted. The men hesitated to pick the fellow up but at last did so, moving him to a comfortable place in front of the Gross Hotel. Later Mr. Wenk came by in a motor car and moved him.

Mr. Hogan says that he does not know whether the drunken man was one brought to act as guard or one who was to work in the shop. He feels, however, that it was up to the men who were to be guards to see that drunken men were not brought in.

Mr. Hogan says that one man who was brought in the car to go to work in the shops carried an up-to-date union card of the United Mine Workers of America. This man said that things had been misrepresented to him and that he would not work. He left a short time later on a Wabash train.

None of the men who came in did any work. A large crowd was at the station to meet the train but there was no demonstration and no violence.

Mr. Hogan says that there have been cases in Conception since the strike was called where the strikers have given men coming in to work lodging for a night and meals before they started out of town.

Mr. Hogan was accompanied to Maryville by V. J. Walsh and Virgil Lainhart of Conception Junction, both of them being strikers.

John A. Wallace has been deputized by Sheriff Steve Roach as one of the deputy sheriffs at Conception Junction. Mr. Wallace will be in charge of the deputy sheriffs at that place.

Sheriff Steve Roach went to Conception Junction yesterday afternoon to issue commissions to the men selected as deputy sheriffs.

Miss Maude Kennell of Stanberry will arrive in Maryville today to be admitted to the St. Francis hospital for medical treatment.

GEORGE MELCHER SPEAKS AT STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

Said This Morning Pupils in Country Districts Not as Good Readers As in Town

George Melcher, assistant superintendent of the Kansas City Schools, spoke at a general assembly of students at the State Teachers College this morning. In his talk he brought out the fact that experiments have shown that the pupils in the rural schools are not as good readers as those in the schools of the towns. They are not as fast readers and do not get the subject about which they are reading well. He says that this is due to the fact that they do not have as good opportunities as those in the towns.

NO SEPARATE STATE AGREEMENT

PRESIDENT OF MINE WORKERS DECLARED TODAY

FIRSTACTUALWORKSTART

In Southeastern Pennsylvania District By 25—Wants Illinois Meeting Called Off

Philadelphia, July 27—No separate state settlement between the miners and operators, John Lewis, president of mine workers, declared. While he said it was undoubtedly true the miners had won the present strike, it was almost universally recognized they can apply no wage reduction in the mining industry.

Canonsburg, Pa., July 27—Under heavy guard, the first actual production of soft coal in Southeastern Pennsylvania began at Hills station. Although sniping was reported during the night, actual work was begun without demonstrations. Twenty-five strikebreakers are working.

Pottsville, Pa., July 27—Important developments leading to a possible settlement of the anthracite coal strike are occurring in the conference of mayors of anthracite region cities and local Mayor Bearstler. He said today the representatives of the miners agreed that diggers can return to work at the present scale and same working conditions.

Philadelphia, July 27—Absolute silence as to the nature of topic under discussion between John Lewis and district leaders of anthracite and bituminous regions in the stat has been maintained so far as all are concerned.

St. Louis, July 27—Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, today asked his district executive board to recind action of yesterday to call the Illinois miners in district convention at Peoria to discuss the present coal crisis. This action was taken because of the misrepresentation of the purpose of the convention sent out in the news story to the press over the wires last night.

END OF RAIL STRIKE IN SIGHT

PREDICTED MEN WILL BE BACK AT WORK MONDAY

CONFERENCES WERE HELD

President Harding Conferred With All Parties Directly Concerned In Controversy

Washington, July 27—Peace in the railroad strike actually appeared in sight as leaders of the striking shopcrafts resumed their conference with President Harding.

Officials predicted the men will be back at work next Monday.

The president is expected to submit a plan at a conference which the strike leaders will probaly accept.

Washington, July 27—Definite progress toward establishing a truce in the national railroad strike was made here at a series of White House conferences which brought before President Harding all parties directly concerned in the controversy. Following the conference, President Cuyler of the American Association of Railway Execlutives, was in conference with President Harding. Cuyler announced other executives will remain in Washington for the rest of the week. Cuyler returns tonight for another conference with the president.

Washington, July 27—President Harding is leading the peace move to have all rail services resumed, pending a permanent settlement of the differences. T. Dewitt Cuyler president of the American Association of Railway executives, considered spokesman heretofore, is silent. The big eastern roads are to confer with the president and also with Jewell, strike leader; Timothy Healty, head of the offers and stationary firemen, and A. W. Wharton, labor member of the Railway Labor Board, it is expected.

On the result of the conferences hinges a possibility of a truce in the railway crisis before the week-end. Peace in the rail strike, it is belived, will be a forerunner of renewed efforts to end the coal strike.

Chicago, July 27—Four more preliminary injunctions restraining the strikers from picketing or interfering with the operation of the railroads were granted by Judge Page in federal court today.

Puts It Up To Strikers

If you are the believer in peace and harmony and the reign of justice which you would have believed, I invite you now to pass judgment on the failure of the mine workers to accept the awards of an able and impartial commission in determining the merits of the dispute between coal miners and coal operators and I invite you to urge the striking railway workmen to accept the decision of the American railroad labor board, acting under authority of the law, which must be supreme, and return to work under that decision until you and I, and everyone else interested in American welfare, may join in asking the railroad labor board to give a rehearing on any question concerning which there is reasonable doubt about the correctness or the justice of the decision made. These are the things expected by your government of its loyal and law abiding citizenship.—From President Harding's letter to rail employees' publicity chairman.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Clerk of Nodaway County, subject to the decision of the Democratic primary, on Tuesday August 1.

FRED J. YEOMANS

VOTING IN PARTY PRIMARIES.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch says editorially: "On account of the desire of a number of Republicans, particularly German-Americans, to vote for the nomination of Senator Reed in the Democratic primary, the question of the members of one party voting in the primary of another, without intention of changing parties or voting the ticket of the other party in the election, has become acute.

"Any citizen can change his party at any time. There is no legal or moral obstacle to actual change of party and voting in the primary of the party selected by a citizen, provided the change is made in good faith, with the intention of supporting the party nominees of the new party. But the law forbids any member of one party voting in the primary of another party merely for the purpose of nominating, without intending to vote with the party in the election. To prevent this the vote of citizens changing their parties in the primary may be challenged and the changing voters may be required to take an oath that they will support the ticket of the party in the primary of which they vote.

"The theory of the law is clear and sound. Having parties with a legal status and having party government, the members of each party should select the candidates of their party. They are presumed to have the best interests of their party at heart, to know and support its principles and policies, to make an honest and intelligent choice of candidates who will best serve the party and the public and carry out the party policies. Party officers, who ought to be chosen by party members, are selected at the primaries.

"Members of opposing parties might grossly misuse the privilege of voting in the primaries of the parties they oppose. They might choose the worse candidates and wreck its platform and organization. The law, therefore, is designed to safeguard parties from inside assaults by their opponents.

"No man, therefore, can participate in the primary of a party to which he does not belong or intend to support without violating the law. If he is challenged and makes oath of loyalty to the party he must keep faith or be guilty of perjury.

"Of course, a man is not bound to vote for all the nominees of his party but in selecting the party with which he participates in the primary he must act in good faith; he must be honest and honorable. To change primaries in bad faith is both illegal and dishonorable."

A lot of people wave at a passing train for about the same reason that a dog runs after it.

Too much "horse play" generally brings more harm than good to those it is intended to benefit. Common horse sense is mighty hard to beat.

When you imagine that prohibition is a failure, just look about you—then call up in memory the numerous drunks and drunkards of the old saloon days.

Senator Culberson of Texas is another old timer that has lost out in recent primaries. Senator Culberson has been a member of the United States Senate for many years.

It is estimated that the two million men who are idle because of strikes are suffering a wage loss of over $8,000,000 per day. This is not only a terrible loss to the men, but it means such a contraction of purchasing power as to seriously affect business, and this, in turn, may have an effect upon future business and future employment. What the railroads are losing, probably can not be even estimated.

The Interstate Commerce Commission Tuesday declared an emergency to exist in the transportation territory east of the Mississippi River which required it to direct routing of shipments of all essential commodities and to fix preference and priority for the movement of food, coal and other fuel, perishable produtes, and livestock. Coal shipments, it is said, will be furnished first to the railroads, then to public utilities, ice plants, manufacturers of ice for public consumption and refrigeration plants for the preservation of foodstuffs, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, has undertaken to see that coal operators do not overcharge the public during the period while coal is scarce.

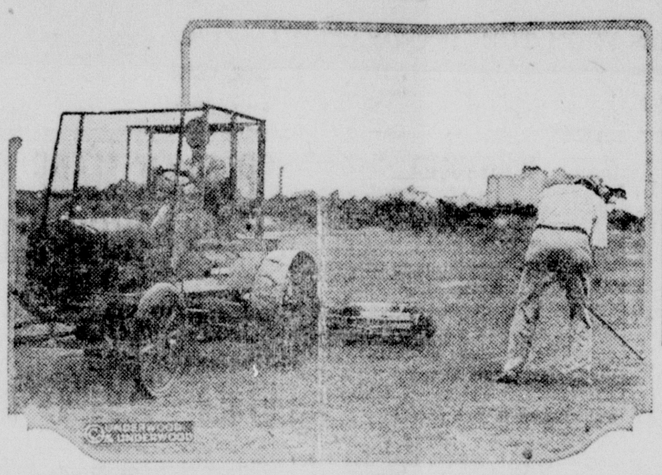
He Laughs at Wild Drivers Now



After two horses had been killed by golf balls on the Lincoln park golf course in Chicago, the park authorities decided to install a tractor to draw the lawn mower. The second day the driver sustained a blow in the head that put him out of business for a while, and now the authorities have enclosed the driver in a wire net.

MOTOR TRUCKS BRINGING IN MUCH OF THE WHEAT CROP

They Make Better Time on the Road Than Horses and Haul Big Loads

The days of the big draft horses hitched to strings of wagons loaded with wheat and lined up at the elevators waiting to be unloaded is passing it seems. A considerable portion of the wheat is coming into the the elevators in motor trucks. They make much better time on the road and in some cases they haul bigger loads than the team can draw.

Holloway and Sons of Maryville are making a business this year of hauling wheat to the market from the machine, with their motor trucks. They take the contract to put a man's crop in the elevator and all he has to do is to see that it is threshed out and then go to the elevator and collect for it, the first of which is no small task. With three trucks it is possible to keep the grain hauled to the elevator for a distance of six miles, unless it happens that so many are unloading that it is not possible to get to the place of unloading without a wait.

Kansas City Girls Show An Increase In Delinquency

Kansas City, Mo., July 27—Within a period of two years juvenile delinquency among girls has increased 20 per cent, according to Judge E. E. Porterfield, of the Kansas City Juvenile Court. This perceptible increase can be attributed directly to the lure of bright lights and the gay mothers of to-day, the Judge declared.

"For the first time in the history of this court I have observed that the girls are going back on me," Judge Porterfield explained. I am shocked. The girls of today are far too independent for their own benefit. For some inexplicable reason the majority among the youths of today—boys and girls—refuse to listen to the advice given by their elders.

"The mothers who are constantly seeking entertainments outside of the home and those who make a practice of leaving their broods to the care of a trained nurse are partially responsible for the utter disregard with which girls are treating the moral code."

Historical data has it that there was once a period when little girls "were made of sugar and spice and everything nice." But those days are pronouncedly passed now, court attendants declare.

Young girls are showing a marked tendency to learn early the ways of dangerous gayety, nightly revels away from the home and numerous unconventional things, according to a woman probation officer. A loose moral viewpoint is largely to blame, she said. The future of society is at stake, and the courts should immediately adopt strenuous methods to curb those evils, she declared.

"HUMAN INTEREST" IN THE DAILY NEWS

Washington, July 27 (Capital News Service)—In New York, where anything may and many things do, happen, a woman was shot five times by her husband because he caught her going out with other men. Most people shot even once will complain about it, but Mrs. Margaret Maher not only refused to swear out information against her husband, but defied the judge, who ordered her, in the public interest to do so. "I deserved to be shot!" she answered.

If you have a supposed "dud" or other innocent-appearing shell brought as souvenir from "over there," make sure it isn't loaded. A Watertown, New York, man had a shell used as a door weight, and the sun heated it and it exploded and killed eight children.

Two women stowaways who managed to conceal themselves until they reached this country from Russia, claimed to be opera singers and able to support themselves. They were ordered deported back to Russia. Whereupon both of them said that sooner than return they would kill themselves, as death was infinitely preferable to the dishonor, torture, and degradation which would be their lot if they went back to the land of Bolshevism and Soviet government.

A Malden, Mass., man was cruel to his horse, failing to provide it with proper shelter and food. The wise judge, before whom the man was brought, ordered the horse turned out to graze and the man to be confined for two days an nights in the horse's stall in the stable to see how it felt to be a horse!

President Harding hasn't come right out in meeting and said that daylight saving without a clock change, tried out on official Washington, D. C., is a failure exactly, but he has said to the utter relief of every one concerned, that as far as this administration can rule it, daylight saving in Washington is dead in the future, unless Congress acts.

STUDENTS SHOULD BOOST COLLEGE

COUNTY CLUB PRESIDENTS URGED TO ACT AS MISSIONARIES

SCHOOL IS DISTINCTIVE

It Is of the Nineteen Counties in this Section They Should Stand For It

That the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College is an institution distinctive to nineteen counties in the northwestern part of the state and it is to the interest of the students and the people living within these counties to boost it, was brought out at the dinner held last night at the Bainum Hotel, given by the presidents of the nineteen county clubs and the president of the club to which those who live outside these nineteen counties belong.

The presidents have been selected by the students in the College from their respective counties and it is up to these to act as missionaries in their counties to get other students and other people to support and boost the College and education in general.

Each of the county presidents invited one guest and there were a number of guests besides these, among whom were Uel W. Lamkin, president of the College, and W. A. Blagg, president of the board of regents. Following are those who were present:

C. R. Gardner, Maryville; Helen Kantz and Priscilla Peck, Caldwell; Elizabeth Brainart and Ida Grubbe, Trenton; Sarah Power, Princeton; Chloe Power, Toronta, Kan.; Edna E. Seaton, Helena; Anita Bielman, Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miles, Maryville; Grace M. Shepherd, Maryville; Gertrude Fulcher, Platte City; Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Keller, Chila; Edna Craven, Grant City; Leslie G. Somerville, Maryville; W. A. Power, Quitman; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Hosman, Gallatin; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Skaith, Agency; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Skelton, New Point; H. T. Phillips, Maryville; Uel W. Lamkin, Maryville; W. A. Blagg, Maryville; W. H. Watkins, Osborn; E. Newton Carter, Bethany; D. O. Yeager, Tarkio; Lee Crist, Skidmore; L. A. Zeliff, Stanberry.

Following is the menu:

Fruit Cocktail
Fried Chicken — Mashed Potatoes
Peas — Tomatoes
Rolls — Butter
Ice Tea
Ice Cream and Cake

Following the dinner a number of talks were made along the line of what the students should do to help the College.

S. W. Skelton, superintendent of schools at New Point, spoke on the "Problem of the Rural High School." In the past, teaching in the rural schools, he said, had been only a stepping stone to getting a place to teach in a good sized town or a small city. Now this has changed to a great degree, due to the fact that the pay in the rural schools has been made nearly as much as that in the cities. The State Teachers College here is looking especially to the rural side of training of teachers and this is as it should be.

L. M. Hosman, superintendent of schools at Gallatin, spoke on "Improvement of the Teacher in Service." He said that the length of time that a teacher remains in a place has much to do with the efficiency of the school. When a teacher stays a long time in a place it is better for the school than if she is changing about all the time. Of eighteen teachers in the Gallatin schools when Mr. Hosman took charge six years ago, fourteen are still on the job. He told of the extension work of College and advised that teachers specialize in the College on educational subjects when they go to school.

Francis L. Skaith, superintendent of schools at Agency, spoke on the "Schools of Buchanan County." He said that a teachers' institute was held the first Saturday of each month for the teachers and that any teacher who had not attended as many as five of these during the preceding year could not have a county certificate renewed and would not be recommended for a job by the county superintendent if he held another kind of certificate. He said that there was a plan on foot for having this winter an organization in Buchanan County for the former students of the State Teachers College here.

Miss Elizabeth Brainard, county superintendent of schools of Grundy County, told of how a community day is held at each of the schools of the county before the opening in the fall. The teachers attend this, as do the patrons, and they all have a chance to become acquainted and talk things over before school begins.

Newton Carter, county superintendent of schools of Harrison county, spoke one the "Aches and Pains of the Teaching Profession." He said that some of these were due to the fact that teachers when they leave schools forget the good things that they have learned and that others are caused by the failure of superintendents to show appreciation of what the teachers do.

W. A. Blagg, president of the board of regents, told of the attitude of the board in the past and present and of what it will be in the future. He said that the board has always tried to keep on the faculty a grade of teachers who will do the best kind of work. He said that it was the desire of the board to offer only work of the very best quality.

President Uel W. Lamkin told of the service of the College and of the quality of the work it is attempting to do. He spoke of how the field is being increased and said that the College is ready and willing to help the teachers out in the district in any way.

Earl Duncan, county superintendent of schools in Gentry county, was chairman at the dinner. Along with the other remarks that it is necessary for a chairman to make he gave some statistics regarding the number of teachers of the state who are attending school.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Manning were shopping here this morning.

WOULD HAVE GOVERNORS MEET

Head of Missouri Commercial Clubs Send Coal Plan to Hoover

St. Louis, July 27—Suggesting that a conference of the governors of all states be called, I. R. Kelso, president of the Federation of Missouri Commercial Clubs, yesterday wired Secretary Hoover, proposing the reopening of the coal mines until a final adjustment of differences is reached.

The governors' conference, Kelso suggested, could outline uniform conditions for the operation of the mines, pending the settlement. Both the miners and operators, Kelso pointed out, could agree to the temporary operation of the mines without yielding any vital principle involved.

Hotchkins of Maryville. Dr. Hepburn is one of Chicago's most popular ministers. He fills the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church in Maryville next Sunday and a number from Hopkins expect to hear him. Dr. Hepburn will spend a few weeks at Yellowstone park before returning home, going west by rail but will stop off in Hopkins on his return from the park to accompany his son, (who has spent the summer at Glenco farm near Hopkins) home in his car.

8,000 HIKING CLUBS IN GREATER NEW YORK

They Swing Along Highways and Through Woods in Groups of Varying Size.

New York.—One must walk nowadays to be in the swim. Statistics gleaned from the out-door departments of the newspapers, from the Boy Scout and Campfire Girls' organizations, from the Y. M. C. A. branches and kindred bodies, from scores of amateur athletic clubs and from the leading dealers in sporting goods, indicate that today there are no less than 8,000 hiking clubs in Greater New York, with a total membership of more than a quarter of a million men and women, who are keeping themselves in the pink of condition and experiencing the real joy of living by getting regularly out into the open country with no other means of locomotion than their God-given legs.

The city of New York has taken official notice of the movement. On three occasions recently Mayor Hylan has congratulated the boys and girls of the public schools upon their enthusiasm in taking up the new sport of hiking. In his dedication of the great new public playground in the Bronx the other day Mayor Hylan extolled the athletic tendencies of the boys and girls and impressed upon them that there was no better or more profitable way in which they could pass their vacations and utilize their holidays than by the excursions into field and forest of their walking clubs. He gave the same message to the Amateur Athletic Union of Brooklyn a few days later, and when a club of East Side boys and girls visited him at city hall preparatory to a hike to the tomb of Roosevelt at Oyster Bay he assured them that the best walkers among them would make the best citizens.

Walk and Be Well

No less enthusiastic a champion of the walking game is Dr. Royal S. Copeland, city health commissioner. "The benefit to health and the safeguard to morals to be found in long walks," said Dr. Copeland in an interview, "are too apparent to speak of them. If one takes long walks alone it is well, for he walks the road of health, but if he takes long walks in company it is better for he adds the tonic of companionship to his exercise. Walking is the one form of exercise in which there is the minimum risk of overdoing it. In short, I consider walking the most beneficial of all exercises and it is never out of season."

"Never in my life-time," said Edward R. Wilbur, manager of a nationally known sporting goods store, "have I known such a demand as now for outdoor garments and shoes and stockings and appliances for the tourist's luncheon box. The rapid spread and tremendous popularity of the walking club idea has no parallel in our experience.

"The hiker can make his requisite just what he feels like spending. Really, there are only two or three articles indispensable to hiking—thick walking shoes that allow lots of room, thick woolen socks and clothing that will give freedom of limb. He should have a canvas or leather musette bag, such as the soldiers used in France.

The Cow in the Knapsack

"To get the real benefit and joy out of hiking luncheon should be carried and prepared and eaten in the open. Bread and cheese, a few slices of bacon, some coffee, a can of condensed milk, and a cake of chocolate furnish high-powered fuel for the hiker and are readily and happily assimilated even by those who in their pre-hiking days were afflicted with digestive apparatus so feeble as to balk at crackers and milk. Fortunately for the hiker, he can replenish his simple larder at any cross-roads store and provide himself with the most nutritious and appetizing food in a form that can be conveniently carried.

"No single development in the problem of food transportation for the hunter, fisherman, hiker and all lovers of the out-of-doors can compare with the gift bestowed by the man who first found the way to make condensed milk, thereby putting a dairy in every man's knapsack. Before long there will be a national association of hikers, and Gail Borden will be its patron saint. Such an association could do much to encourage the spread of the most beneficial and universal of all outdoor pastimes, map out interesting routes, secure the establishment of shelters, rest-stations, and camp sites at suitable locations, and insure the rights of pedestrians on country roads."

GARVAN DEMANDS HARDING CLEAR HIM

Writes to President That He Has Been Grossly Misled by Daugherty.

New York.—Flatly refusing to return to the United States government a single chemical patent right owned by the Chemical Foundation, Inc., of which he is president, Francis P. Garvan, in a spirited and energetic letter to President Harding, asserted that the President, "grossly misled by the attorney-general," is, for the first time in American history, attempting to abrogate a solemn Executive order of a predecessor, and "s acting, moreover, on information "furnished by German agents and interpreted by lawyers whose sole knowledge of the war and its lessons is derived from association with German clients."

Absolute legality in the sale of 4,700 and odd former German patents to the Foundation, and complete publicity in the organization and operation of this quasi-public institution, together with the highest of ethical motives, are earnestly maintained by Mr. Garvan in his communication, and he asserts with emphasis that no person connected with the Foundation has ever made a dollar out of it, or ever could do so under its charter and by-laws, himself least of all; he fortifies that statement with figures which show that the capital of the institution consisted of $428,-900, all of which has been spent in the purchase of the patents and in educating the people through schools and colleges and in the encouragement of chemical societies, and says that the Foundation income from licenses barely meets the modest running expenses.

All of these financial details have long been available, Mr. Garvan reminds President Harding, and demands that the President ascertain the truth and tell the people whether the Foundation and its head have deserved the abuse they have received.

"Gave All and Got Abuse"

"It has given its all," Mr. Garvan writes. "You can take away nothing but the opportunity of service. It was all we got from the government. It is all we have.

"Mr. President, you have had the temerity to impugn the honor of the gentlemen who boast a part in the great work of building up or preserving the possibility of progress in organic chemistry for America. You have again been misinformed as to the nature of the trust we bore. That trust was not for the German Kartel, the owner of practically all the important patents, who had received them under the unthinking graciousness of laws they had induced. That trust was for the American people, their industrial independence and for the safety and health of their children and their children's children."

At the outset of his letter Mr. Garvan states that he has forwarded to the Alien Property Custodian the Chemical Foundation's formal answer to his demand, an answer "as an American corporation ready at all times to defend its rights in the courts," but that the public in whose interests the Foundation was organized, is entitled to be fully informed as to the circumstances under which the demand was made and the reason why it is unqualifiedly refused. The demand itself, Mr. Garvan asserts, together with the letter written by the President and the statement made by Attorney-General Daugherty, "demonstrate that you, Mr. President have been grossly misled by the attorney-general, both as to the law and the facts of the case."

Eliminating "Enemy Interest"

Thereupon Mr. Garvan contends (1) that the attorney-general has listened exclusively to German agents, which is no investigation; (2), that the United States government has no interest in the suit brought by the Foundation to determine the ownership of funds held by the treasury; (3), that when President Wilson authorized the sale of the German patents, neither the President, secretary of state nor alien property custodian was, under the law, in the remotest sense a trustee for the German enemies; (4), that specific power to sell the patents was granted by Congress after full committee hearings on November 4, 1918, and on December 3, 1918, President Wilson, vested with power to supervise all sales, authorized Acting Secretary of State Frank L. Polk to approve the sale of the German chemical and other patents; (5), that on February 26, 1919, Polk ordered the sale in the public interest, noting that a public sale was not in the best interests of the public because it would offer opportunity for the patents to get into the hands of speculators and monopolists, and that the Chemical Foundation, obligated to grant non-exclusive licenses, was the best means for "eliminating alien interests hostile to American industries and of the advancement of chemical and allied industries in the United States;" (6), that President Wilson, returning from abroad, confirmed Polk's order on February 13, 1920, with this comment: "My reasons for the foregoing determination and order are stated in the said orders of Frank L. Polk . . . and in addition thereto, the public interest will be best served by the elimination of any enemy interest adverse to American citizens arising by reason of said choses in action, or rights, interests and benefits under said agreements . . . ."

"This sale," Mr. Garvan continues, "was made in the full light of all branches of the government and in the full light of publicity. The idea of its formation was the result of the intimate knowledge of the past use of these patents in a manner hostile to the United States' interests, and in full consultation with all of the executives of the government, the experts of our army and navy, and leaders of our chemical business organizations and the heads of all our scientific and research organizations. I do not ask you to accept my present statement of the matter, but insert here an extract from the report of A. Mitchell Palmer, filed with the President February 22, 1919, and by him forwarded to the Congress, and by that Congress made a public document and most widely commented on by the press of the country."

Palmer's Version of It

Mr. Palmer stated in the course of the report refered to by Mr. Garvan: "These patents, as had already been indicated, formed a colossal obstacle to the development of the American dyestuff industry. Evidently they had not been taken out with any intention of manufacturing in this country or from any fear of American manufacture . . . upon consideration it seemed that these patents offered a possible solution for the problem, hitherto unsolvable, of protecting the new American dye industry against German competition after the war . . . The idea was accordingly conceived that if the German chemical patents could be placed in the hands of any American institution strong enough to protect them, a real obstacle might be opposed to German importation after the war, and at the same time the American industry might be freed from the prohibition enforced by the patents against the manufacture of the most valuable dyestuffs. Accordingly these considerations were laid before various associations of chemical manufacturers, notably the Dye Institute and the American Manufacturing Chemists' Association. The suggestion was met with an instantaneous and enthusiastic approval, and as a result a corporation has been organized to be known as the Chemical Foundation (Inc.), in which practically every important manufacturer will be a stockholder, the purpose of which is to acquire by purchase these German patents and to hold them as a trustee for American industry. . . . The first president of the Chemical Foundation will be Francis P. Garvan of the New York bar, to whose clear vision and indefatigable industry I am chiefly indebted for the working out of this plan.

"The combination was not objectionable to public policy, since it was so organized that any genuine American, whether a stockholder of the company or not, could secure the benefits of the patents on fair and equal terms."

A Quasi-Public Idea

Mr. Garvan goes on to state that at that time he was a dollar a year man, with no expectation whatever of becoming alien property custodian; that it was only when Attorney-General Gregory resigned and Palmer was appointed attorney-general that Palmer asked him to take the custodian's place. Three months later, he writes, he testified before the Ways and Means Committee of the house: "The foundation of the Chemical Foundation was an effort to form an organization to represent as nearly as possible at that time the public interests. Judge Ingraham of New York and Judge Gray of Delaware had charge of drawing our charter and our trust agreement and our certificate of incorporation. We have endeavored to make it as nearly a public institution as our laws allow, and at the same time to have it an official organization. We wanted to sell these patents to the government, and if there had been any method by which we could make them a working force and still have them owned and controlled by the government, it would have relieved us of a great deal of responsibility, and if there is at this time any suggestion for modification or amendment of our plan which will insure in the minds of the committee a more definite and certain fulfillment of the intention and purposes of our organization I am certain that the Chemical Foundation and all its stockholders and all who are interested in it would be glad to conform to the wishes of the committee, because, in so far as we have public recognition and public support and government recognition and government support, we become more efficient and become more able to carry out the intentions which are in our hearts and minds."

Mr. Garvan states that the total or gross income of the Foundation has averaged $143,216.65 per year. The running expenses, bare overhead, have averaged $121,971.35, a net excess of $21,245.30 or .049 per cent on the $428,-900 invested, allowing nothing for depreciation. The average life of the patents is eight years, so that 12½ per cent of the $271,850 cash paid for the patents, or $33,981 per year, should be subtracted from the apparent net receipts per year, which leaves an actual annual operation deficit of $12,735.70. In educational work, Mr. Garvan informs the President, the Foundation has spent $264,017.85, the entire balance of its capital.

Quotes English Prediction

Firmly maintaining that the Foundation is the keystone of the wall raised to protect the American people from German chemical domination, Mr. Garvan maintains such protection is indispensable to the future happiness, health and safety of the American people, and quotes from a recent open letter to parliament written by James Morton, largest carpet manufacturer of England, "Organic chemistry is the key to the world of new values,' and that America in five years' time will have dye works and general chemical works equal to Germany.

As regards the development of organic chemistry for national defense, Mr. Garvan calls to his aid testimony by Marshal Foch and the late Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson to the general conclusion that a nation thoroughly equipped chemically may almost guarantee the peace of the future. And as regards its importance in the development of medicine he quotes Prof. Julius Stiglitz of the University of Chicago, world famous chemist:

"The pitiful calls of our hospitals for local anaesthetics to alleviate suffering on the operating table, the frantic appeals for the hypnotic that soothes the epileptic and staves off his seizure, the almost furious demands for remedy after remedy that came in the early years of the war, are still ringing in the hearts of many of us. No wonder that our small army of chemists is grimly determined not to give up the independence in chemistry which the war achieved for us! Only a widely enlightened public, however, can insure the permanence of what far seeing men have started to accomplish in developing the power of chemistry through research in every domain which chemistry touches."

"These," Mr. Garvan concludes, "were the thoughts which were in the minds of the men who knew the war and its lessons when they formed the Chemical Foundation."

This is the second trip that has been made with the play. About three weeks ago it was given at Conception but owing to the heavy rains at that time it was decided to repeat the play next Sunday.

MAY CHANGE PARTIES TUESDAY.

Printed affidavits for use of persons seeking to vote in the primaries of the opposite party to which he is known to be affiliated, have been delivered the election board for use next Tuesday.

It has been predicted many Republicans will seek to vote in the Democratic primaries because of the Reed-Long fight. Also, it is expected that some Democrats will call for Republican ballots.

In either case the person who calls for the ballot of the opposite party is subject to challenge if recognized as being affiliated with the party other than that in whose primaries he is seeking to enter. Under such challenge the judges require the voter to make an affidavit that he or she will support the nominees of the party on the ticket he votes in the primaries at the November election.

This section of the Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1919, Shannon Douglass, election commissioner, said yesterday, controls the situation:

Section 4839: No person shall be entitled to vote at any primary unless a qualified elector of the precinct and duly registered therein, if registration thereat be required by law, and known to affiliate with the political party at the head of the ticket he calls for, and attempts to vote, or obligates himself to support the nominees of said party at the following general election.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE LOADING A LOT OF WHEAT

Moisture in Grain Causes It to Test Lower That It Would if It Were Dry

About two carloads of wheat is being bought and loaded a day by the Farmers' Exchange at the elevator on First Street and Burlington tracks. A large portion of this is being brought in in motor trucks. Considerable of the wheat is testing about a grade lower than it would have done but for the big rain that wet it through and through in the shock. Although the straw and chaff is dry the grain still contains a lot of moisture and wet wheat is always lighter than dry wheat. Moisture causes it to swell so that it does not lay so close.

Lots of the wheat started to sprout during the cloudy days that followed the big rain. In looking through the wheat, especially that which is coming out of the low land, one may find many grains with little sprouts on them.

46 Bushels to Acre

Jim Pistole of Hopkins reported twenty-six acres of the Lowry & Pistole wheat going 46 bushels to the acre and testing "60." They have more wheat yet to thresh they think will be as good or better.
